

Normalised displacement rises with alpha

...and so does normalised lateral error

